The General Insurance Business (Nationalisation) Act, 1972(57 of 1972)Last Updated 20th January, 2020 [11/596]Statement of Objects and Reasons. - By the General Insurance (Emergency Provisions) Ordinance, 1971, which was later replaced by an Act of Parliament the management of the undertakings of all insurers carrying on general insurance business was vested in the Central Government, pending nationalisation.The object of the present Bill is to complete the process of nationalisation which is sought to be effected in the following manner. On a day, to be appointed by the Central Government, the shares in insurance companies carrying on general insurance business, which are incorporated in India and having a share capital, would automatically stand transferred to, and vested in, the Central Government. A few shares, however, would thereafter be formally transferred to, the nominees of the Central Government in order to enable each of the Indian insurance companies to function as a Government company. On the appointed day, the undertakings of all other insurers, including foreign insurers, and the L.I.C. insofar as it relates to the general insurance business carried on by it, would also stand transferred to, and vested in, such one or other of the Indian insurance companies as the Central Government may specify.It is also proposed to form under the Companies Act, 1956, a Government Company, to be called General Insurance Corporation of India, which will be entrusted with the task of supervising, controlling and carrying on the business of general insurance. On the formation of the Corporation, the shares of the Indian Insurance Companies, vested in the Central Government would stand automatically transferred to the Corporation and all the Indian Insurance Companies would become the subsidiaries of the Corporation.The Bill further provides for the framing of one or more schemes whereby the Indian Insurance Companies would so get merged in one another that ultimately there will be only four Indian Companies, so situated as to promote competition between them so that effective services in the field of general insurance may be rendered by them in all part of India. Amendment Act 3 of 1985-Statement of Objects and Reasons. - In Ajay Kumar Banerjee v. Union of India (A.I.R.1984 S.C. 1130) the Supreme Court held that section 16 of the General Insurance Business (Nationalisation) Act, 1972 does not permit the framing of any scheme which is unconnected with, or unrelated to, the merger of one insurance company with another insurance company or the formation of a new company by the amalgamation of two or more insurance companies. In order to control the cost of administration in the interests of the General Insurance Corporation of India and the acquiring companies and their policy holders, Government considered it necessary to vest itself with powers to frame further schemes of nationalisation or revision of pay scales and other conditions of service applicable to officers and other employees and also to confer on the Central Government other necessary power and to revalidate the existing scheme and other actions taken in the past. Hence, the President promulgated on the 17th September, 1984, the General Insurance Business (Nationalisation), Amendment Ordinance, 1984 to amend the General Insurance Business (Nationalisation) Act, 1972 to empower the Central Government to frame further schemes of nationalisation or revision of pay scales and other terms and conditions of service of all officers and other employees of the Corporation and of the acquiring companies and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto. Amendment Act 38 of 1989-Statement of Objects and Reasons. - The authorised capital of the General Insurance Corporation of India is at present rupees seventy-five crores as provided in sub-section (2) of section 9 of the General Insurance Business (Nationalisation) Act, 1972. There has been a substantial accretion to the free reserves of the General Insurance Corporation of India on account of its continued good performance. As a result of the said accretion, the General Insurance Corporation of India has made two bonus issues and at present the paid-up capital of the said Corporation stands at rupees sixty-four crores and fifty lakhs. The said Corporation is also expected to make further bonus issues in the near future and as a result of such issues, the paid-up capital of the Corporation would go up beyond the existing authorised capital of rupees seventy-five crores. It is, therefore, necessary that the present authorised capital of rupees seventy-five crores is increased to rupees two hundred and fifty crores to enable the said Corporation to make further bonus issues over a period of next ten years. Amendment Act 40 of 2002-Statement of Objects and Reasons. - The General Insurance Corporation of India (GIC) was formed as a Government company under sub-section (1) of section 9 of the General Insurance Business (Nationalisation) Act, 1972 (GIBNA, 1972). It was entrusted with the task of superintending, controlling and carrying on the business of general insurance. On the formation of the GIC, the shares of the Indian insurance companies, which vested in the Central Government, were transferred to the GIC and all the Indian insurance companies became the subsidiaries of the Corporation. Under the schemes framed under GIBNA, 1972, the Indian insurance companies got merged in one another and ultimately four Indian companies, namely, the National Insurance Company Limited, the New India Assurance Company Limited, the Oriental Insurance Company Limited and the United India Insurance Company Limited are left which are so situated as to promote competition between them so that effective services in the field of general insurance be rendered by them in all parts of India.² The Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority Act, 1999 (IRDA) Act, 1999 incorporated a new sub-clause (c) in clause (7-A) of section 2 of the Insurance Act, 1938 under which an Indian insurance company can carry on life insurance business or general insurance business or re-insurance business. Clause (ii) of sub-section (8) of section 101-A of the Insurance Act, 1938 also defines the expression "Indian re-insurer" to mean an insurer, specified in sub-clause (b) of clause (9) of section 2 of the said Act, who carries on exclusively re-insurance business and is approved in this behalf by the Central Government.³ At present, the General Insurance Corporation of India is undertaking re-insurance business in India and also underwriting direct general insurance business in civil aviation and crop insurance. GIC is also the holding company of four subsidiary insurance companies mentioned in the first paragraph which are carrying on general insurance business. In view of the aforesaid provisions in the Insurance Act, 1938 and the IRDA Act, 1999, GIC can carry on exclusively re-insurance business or general insurance business. The Central Government has decided to entrust re-insurance business to GIC and delink the said four subsidiary companies carrying on general insurance business from GIC. While the ceasing of underwriting of civil aviation and crop insurance business by GIC is being dealt with administratively, it is proposed to delink GIC from its subsidiaries by making necessary amendments in GIBNA, 1972.⁴ With the enactment of GIBNA in the year 1972, the share capital of insurance companies which stood transferred to and vested in the Central Government was immediately transferred to and vested in GIC. It is now proposed to transfer back to the Central Government, the share capital of the subsidiary companies [vested in GIC] by making necessary amendment in GIBNA, 1972.[20th September, 1972]An Act to provide for the acquisition and transfer of shares of Indian insurance companies and undertakings of other existing insurers in order to serve better the need of the economy by securing the development of general insurance business in the best interests of the community and to ensure that the operation of the economic system does not result in the concentration of wealth to the common detriment, for the regulation and control of such business and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto.[The Economic Times analysed THE GENERAL INSURANCE BUSINESS (NATIONALISATION) AMENDMENT ACT, 2021: What it is about, and why the uproar over it.]
