Andhra Pradesh Land Encroachment Act, 1905 Act No. 3 of 1905 Statement of Objects and Reasons:- (1) The object of the bill is to provide means of protecting public lands from encroachment, and to place upon a statutory basis the customary levy of assessment on such lands when occupied without authority. (2) There are two classes of land which it is desired to protect. The first and more important is that which is termed "Poramboke" that is, unassessed land set apart for public purposes or for the communal use of the villagers as village site, threshing floors, roads, paths, water courses and the like. The second class is "assessed waste", or land available for occupation by private persons, but which has been formally applied for or assigned by the revenue authorities under the rules prescribed in that behalf. The occupation of the later class is ordinarily unobjectionable, but it is desirable to provide means of enforcing the strict observance of the rules laid down for its assignment. As regards the other class, encroachments upon such "Poramboke" lands are all together objectionable and require prompt and stringent measures for their prevention. (3) Before the year 1869, unauthorised encroachments were generally dealt with as criminal trespass, for which imprisonment might be awarded, and were suppressed accordingly; but in that year the High Court of Madras ruled under the Penal Code the Procedure was illegal, the Collectors were accordingly authorised by Government to evict trespassers by charging them assessment at rates calculated to be prohibitive, such assessment being collected in accordance with the provisions of the Madras Revenue Recovery Act, 1864. (4) The practice of charging this Penal assessment has continued up to the present time, and has generally proved effective in checking encroachment. Recently, however, the High Court of Madras has decided that the practice is not authorised by law. Hence the necessity for the present Legislation. Published in Fort St. George Gazette Part IV, Page 595, dated 23-12-1904. An Act to provide measures for checking unauthorised occupation of lands which are property of Government. Preamble:- Whereas it has been the practice to check the unauthorised occupation of lands which are the property of Government by the imposition of penal or prohibitory assessment or charge, and whereas doubts have arisen as to how far such practice is authorised by law and it is expedient to make statutory provision for checking such occupation, it is hereby enacted as follows:
